The Director of Central Intelligence

The Honorable David A. Stockman
 Director, Office of Management and Budget
 Washington, D.C. 20503

Dear Dave:

As you are aware, one of the main objectives of this Administration is to improve and strengthen the current counterintelligence/countermeasures capabilities of the Intelligence Community. [redacted] 25X1

[redacted] 25X1

For example, in FY 1982, the [redacted] 25X1
 which should have been worked on a one-agent-to-one-case basis. Due to manpower constraints, these cases were handled on an average of one-agent-to-three-case basis. In FY 1983, our request to increase [redacted] by 25X1 [redacted] positions [redacted] was denied by OMB. Congress is attempting to provide 25X1 these positions. In FY 1984, I have recommended an additional increase of [redacted] 25X1 positions [redacted] and significant increases in funds to support the 25X1
 [redacted] 25X1

As evidenced by the recent OMB passback to the Department of Justice, your office appears prepared to support this increase, but would offset this by any increase Congress approves in FY 1983. [redacted] 25X1

I have expressed my concern to Judge Clark regarding OMB's decision on this matter and he supports my view that any increases approved by Congress for FY 1983 should be additive to the FY 1984 request. [redacted] 25X1
